Be Your Own Driving Force

Take charge of your career with a presentation by Sarah Schneider.

Sarah coaches from the perspective that each of us is a fierce, loving, real woman that is capable of badassery, and that a woman that has everything she needs to build a life and career the way she wants. And yet, we often cap our own potential by listening to the pesky beliefs, thoughts, and attitudes that run freely through our minds (and frankly, through the world). Well ... enough of that malarkey!

Join us for a fun and enriching talk, where you will learn tips to advance your career and life goals, uncover where you are getting in your own way, and gain a sense of humor around what it means to be human.
